Description

In COH update, when we click on the Save button it should also ask whether you want to re-calculate transaction data? with Yes or No buttons and here If clicked yes then hit re-calculate txn data and save. If clicked No, don't re-calculate txn data and save. also if selected no then update the toast message accordingly Portfolio Updated without ReCal txn data.

Verified on staging web app, now on the Update COH when clicked on the Save button then it asks Re-calculate the transaction data? in the Pop up with Close & Recalculate Data options. Here if selected Closed option then it saves the COH without Recalculating the Txn Data and shows success message as Portfolio updated successfully without re-calculating the transaction data! where as if selected Recalculate Data option then it Recalculates the Transaction Data, Buy Sell Prompt Data & BSPL Data Respectively by showing their success messages. - Done, marking it as closed

After I click save, it takes 3-4 seconds for popup to come about "Re-calculate the transaction data?" and meanwhile restless person like me keeps clicking save multiple times. You need to add loader to show progress if there's a delay. or disable the button and may be show loader inside a button. I have seen this in latest apps.

In the save button a loader has been added until the re-calculate pop-up rises.
